F. Government Representative Reports:

1. Officer Surwilo wanted to remind the audience that it is shift change once again and that we should say hello and tell the officers about things happening on their new shift. He reminded the audience that that you should keep calling about the homeless at the library living in their cars. He reiterated the NO CONTACT RULES that state that the police cannot disturb them for no reason. If the City's parking lot is full, they have no place to go. If you state a secondary reason such as an oil leak or a gas leak, then the situation is "HAZMAT." If you get the incident number from the officer, you can call the police the next day and hear the outcome of your call.
2. Miles Noel from Raul Campillo's office stated that the budget is coming out soon and they still have time to add some items. The Councilman and his office staff are going to Tecolote tomorrow to address community concerns.

G. Public Comment:

1. Kim Hanson from Bayside Community Center announced that the Community Garden is open from 9:30 to 12:30 for classes. It is open until dusk. They are at the Farmer's Market on Thursdays. There are still many opportunities in the garden for other duties such as the Greenhouse. Contact Amy Zink at Bayside.
2. There is a Clean-up at the Baseball Field on 10/6/24 at 9AM.
3. Bayside's Clean-up is 11/3/24 @10AM at the library.
4. Linda Vista's farmers market will be a Halloween celebration on Halloween, 10/31/24.
5. The Multi-Cultural Fair will be celebrating its Emerald 40th Anniversary this year.

H. Community Concerns: Victor Tocco reported on the Comstock issue. There is an incident along Comstock every 6 to 8 months. He talked to the Shift Manager at the Fire Station and there is a speed bump that cuts out the part of the bump that harms the Fire Truck. It's called a "pillow." That may be an option for the speeding on Comstock.

I. Approval of September 2024 meeting minutes: Unanimously accepted.

J. Speaker: Elaine Martel from the World Design Capitol Project on Art and Design.

Elaine is from England and visiting San Diego to study our city from an art and design perspective to enhance our lives in Public Art that is functional yet emphasizes a design that is pleasing. She is working in San Diego to avail the American/Mexico art scene. Barcoding is a design that is both functional, pleasing, and systematic. All this makes shopping easier and more convenient. Humanity-centered design makes like more pleasant but also functional. You need to ask questions about the neighborhood as people are walking or waiting for the light to change to cross the street. The installation of signs for simple reading enhances the look; benches and walkways encourage using them. First you build a model of the area you which to change, or enhance, or build and then fill it with things that teach the public something i.e., where to go, then you encourage them to enjoy the scenery along the way. Then a place to relax once they get there like a bench, a playground, or a view they haven't noticed until now that you've awakened their perspective. The real-life installation may need some tweaking or re-arrangement to capture the eye, but some changes are expected. She mentioned the Design Center at Bayside where they build a design in a cardboard box and adjust from there. Elaine is working with the City of San Diego on a Paseo from the Park to the Bay which the original Park Blvd. was supposed to be.
